

Keiichi Takaki

Education

- 2005 Ph.D in Sociology, Stanford University
- 1991 MA in International Studies, Sophia University
- 1989 BA in Sociology, Sophia University

Professional Experience

- 2006-present Program Officer, International Development Research Institute, & Foundation for Advanced Studies on International Development,
1995-1998 Tokyo, 1995-1998 & 2006 - Present
- 1993-1995 Programme Officer, United Nations Development Programme,
Nigeria Country Office, Lagos 1993-1995
- 1991-1993 Special Assistant, Embassy of Japan in Ghana, Accra

Publications:

- 2006 Partnership between private and public sector toward Millenium
Development Goals, FASD, Tokyo
- 2006 An Attempt toward an Evaluation Method for Capacity
Development, FASID, Tokyo
(http://www.fasid.or.jp/chosa/oda/report_pdf/report18_3.pdf)
- 2005 Development and Social Structure: The Case of Entrepreneurs in Ghana, Ph. D dissertation.
- 1995 Technical Cooperation for Grassroots and Self-Help of Nigerian
People, 1995, Africa Report, Institute of Developing Economies, Tokyo.
- 1993 On the Way to Democracy in Ghana, 1993, Africa Report,
Institute of Developing Economies, Tokyo.